Paper Numbering: Proceedings of SPIE follow an e-First publication model, with papers published first online and then in print and on CD-ROM. Papers are published as they are submitted and meet publication criteria. A unique, consistent, permanent citation identifier (CID) number is assigned to each article at the time of the first publication. Utilization of CIDs allows articles to be fully citable as soon they are published online, and connects the same identifier to all online, print, and electronic versions of the publication. SPIE uses a six-digit CID article numbering system in which:

- The first four digits correspond to the SPIE volume number.
- The last two digits indicate publication order within the volume using a Base 36 numbering system employing both numerals and letters. These two-number sets start with 00, 01, 02, 03, 04, 05, 06, 07, 08, 09, 0A, 0B ... 0Z, followed by 10-1Z, 20-2Z, etc.

The CID number appears on each page of the manuscript. The complete citation is used on the first page, and an abbreviated version on subsequent pages. Numbers in the index correspond to the last two digits of the six-digit CID number.

Dedication

This conference is dedicated to the memory of Warren J. Smith. Warren was among the founding chairs of the Current Developments series that began in 1986 and a co-chair of each conference up to this one. This, however, was only one of his many accomplishments, which are well known to most lens designers and optical engineers and hardly need to be repeated here.

It is hard to find anyone else who personified lens design and optical engineering as fully as Warren. His long career of 60+ years has exerted a major influence in the field through his books, publications, teaching, and mentoring of younger engineers. And for all his achievements and fame, he exhibited kindness, lack of pretense, and a remarkable sense of humor. As we celebrate Warren's contributions to our field, we cannot help but notice that one of our guiding lights has sadly dimmed.

Warren J. Smith (1922-2008)
Optical engineer, educator, friend, mentor, gentleman.
