Optical Engineering

SPIEDigitalLibrary.org/oe

Spherical aberrations and manufacturing errors in eliminating the substrate errors of a computer-generated hologram (withdrawn)

Jie Feng
Chao Deng
Tingwen Xing

Spherical aberrations and manufacturing errors in eliminating the substrate errors of a computer-generated hologram (withdrawn)

Jie Feng

Chinese Academy of Sciences
Institute of Optics and Electronics
Laboratory of Applied Optics
Chengdu 610209, China

and

University of Chinese Academy of Sciences
Beijing 100049, China
E-mail: ygc1212@21cn.com

Chao Deng

Tingwen Xing

Chinese Academy of Sciences
Institute of Optics and Electronics
Laboratory of Applied Optics
Chengdu 610209, China

DOI: 10.1117/1.OE.52.9.091723

Withdrawal Notice

This paper [Opt. Eng. 52(9), 091723 (2013)] was removed from the SPIE Digital Library on 24 July 2013 by the publisher upon verifying that a significant portion of Section 4 of the paper was taken directly from the following previously published paper without attribution:

Ping Zhou and James H. Burge, "Optimal design of computer-generated holograms to minimize sensitivity to fabrication errors," Optics Express 15(23), 15410 (2007).

The citation is provided here so that interested readers can access the information from the original source.